User inputs the template name and chooses a layout from the dropdown.

User can drag&drop different components to defined placeholders in the layout.

Each component has its own set of settings.

Upon saving of template, two files are created. One is the .tpl file in the root of the theme, and other is a .tpl file created inside '_template' folder which is later needed for editing.